Introducing our Northeast Development Law Blog

We know that real estate developers, lenders, and supporting professionals face the challenge of staying up-to-date with changes that constantly occur in a wide range of laws affecting their projects and business plans. Land development projects engage multiple disciplines and require adept handling of acquisition negotiations and financing, compliance with environmental regulations, successful pursuit of land use and other regulatory approvals, and effective construction project planning.

Pooling the collective knowledge of our land law lawyers, Robinson+Cole has launched the Northeast Development Law Blog to keep our clients, colleagues, friends, and professionals in related fields, informed of recent happenings in the law and general trends affecting development projects across the Northeast.

We think you will find the content interesting and invite you to check it out at www.northeastdevelopmentlaw.com. You can also subscribe to the blog by e-mail or by RSS feed.

Contributors to Robinson+Cole's Northeast Development Law Blog include environmental lawyers Richard Smith and Peter Knight, land use lawyer John Casey, construction lawyer Peter Strniste, and real estate finance lawyer Amanda Eckhoff.
