Robinson+Cole Lawyer Elected to The Artists Collective Board of Directors

Christie Jean joins organization dedicated to the arts and culture of the African Diaspora

HARTFORD, CT (August 8, 2017) – The Artists Collective, a multi-arts and cultural organization serving over 1,200 students per year, has elected Robinson+Cole lawyer Christie D. Jean to its Board of Directors.

Ms. Jean is a member of Robinson+Cole's Public Finance Group where she represents state, municipal, and Indian tribal governments in the issuance of tax-exempt and taxable bonds and other debt obligations.

The Artists Collective, serving the Greater Hartford region, provides year-round professional training in dance, music, drama, and visual and martial arts. It works to safeguard and maintain the arts and culture of the African diaspora and to expose children to a nontraditional arts education by promoting social skills training, school success, and community responsibility.
