Robinson+Cole Construction Lawyers Build with Habitat for Humanity

Team members picked up power tools to improve an East Hartford home

HARTFORD, CT (May 18, 2015) – Robinson+Cole’s Construction Group shelved their legal tools for a day to pick up power tools at a Hartford Area Habitat for Humanity build on April 29, 2015. The team was right at home on the site in East Hartford, building steps to the front and back of the house, adding lattice work around the front porch, and painting inside.

“Every year our team takes time to get together outside the office and talk shop, and this year we wanted to combine that annual retreat with giving back to the community,” said Gregory R. Faulkner, chair of Robinson+Cole’s Construction Group. “Working with Habitat for Humanity was a natural choice for us that let us get on a building site in a different role than we’re used to, but one that we all enjoyed.”

Robinson+Cole’s Construction Group is one of the largest and most experienced teams of construction lawyers in the Northeast. The team includes skilled litigators and transactional attorneys who have worked on all types of construction projects, including commercial and industrial buildings, educational facilities, healthcare facilities, multi-family residences, hospitality, environmental remediation, roads, bridges, power, and infrastructure projects. They regularly share insights on current developments and recent trends in all areas of construction law on their blog Construction Law Zone at <http://www.constructionlawzone.com/>.
