

JULY 2010

It may be the start of the summer vacation season, but members of Robinson & Cole's Private Equity and Venture Capital Group have been busy closing deals around the country. In the past two weeks, three of our deals were highlighted in regional and national news wires:

- On June 17, Dow Jones VentureWire reported that Home Dialysis Plus Ltd., a Portland, Oregon-based developer of portable, miniaturized versions of dialysis technology for use in the home, will be able to take the systems to market with a commitment of up to $50 million from Warburg Pincus. Robinson & Cole represents Home Dialysis Plus, Ltd.

These three transactions evidence the scope and breadth of Robinson & Cole's private equity and venture capital practice, and represent only a small fraction of the deals that this team closed in the first half of 2010.

"We are fortunate to have great clients, and it gives us great satisfaction to help them grow, especially in this challenging economy," said Eric J. Dale, chair of the Emerging Companies, PE and VC Group. "It is a hallmark of our practice, that in addition to providing exceptional legal analysis, we endeavor to function as a strategic advisor to our clients. Drawing on our deep industry knowledge and a thorough understanding of the deal-making process, we are committed to finding solutions, not simply identifying issues."
