CYBERSECURITY

ECRI Names Cybersecurity Attacks as Top Health Technology Hazard for 2022

ECRI has been publishing its annual report of health technology hazards for the past 15 years. According to ECRI's Device Evaluation group, "the Top 10 Health Technology Hazards list identifies the potential sources of danger that we believe warrant the greatest attention for the coming year. The list does not necessarily enumerate the most frequently reported problems or the ones associated with the most severe consequences—although we do consider such information in our analysis. Rather, the list reflects our judgment about which risks should receive priority now." Read more

FBI Warns of Scammers Using QR Codes

The FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3) recently issued an alert warning consumers that scammers are using malicious QR Codes to reroute unsuspecting customers to malicious sites to try to steal their data. Read more

AUTONOMOUS VEHICLES

Japan Launches First Fully-Autonomous Ship Navigation Demonstration

This week in Japan, the world's first fully-autonomous ship navigation system deployed a car ferry during a demonstration test. The demonstration took place using a 15,500 gross ton Ro-Pax ferry, spanning 730 feet, that traveled approximately 150 miles between Shinmoji and Lyonada in a 7-hour period. The vessel's operating speed reached about 26 knots during the demonstration. Read more

PRIVACY TIP #315

Redline Malware Used to Steal Saved Credentials

Passwords are so difficult to remember. We all know we shouldn't use the same or similar passwords across platforms. This week's privacy tip reviews the concern of passwords being stolen and appearing on the Russian dark web. Read more
