Robinson+Cole Expands Health Law Practice with Partner Addition in New York

Firm welcomes Danielle Tangorre in Albany office

ALBANY, NY (August 4, 2021) – Robinson+Cole is pleased to announce the addition of Danielle H. Tangorre as a partner in the firm's Health Law Group. Tangorre represents and advises a broad range of health care providers and trade associations on transactional matters, litigation, operational and compliance issues, fraud and abuse, HIPAA, and regulatory matters. Her addition expands Robinson+Cole's legal practice in Albany, New York, where the firm also has a significant government relations practice.

With a particular focus in clinical laboratories, long-term care facilities, behavioral health and substance abuse providers, Tangorre has counseled a variety of health care providers in navigating the complexities of state and federal health law. Highly knowledgeable with fraud and abuse laws specifically, Tangorre regularly advises the health care industry on the Stark Law, the Anti-Kickback Statute, EKRA, and related matters. She frequently counsels clients on transactional matters as well, including guiding health care providers through many complex re-organizations, mergers and acquisitions, and other business-related affiliations. Tangorre has consistently emphasized the importance of achieving clients' strategic operational goals in a compliant manner.

"Danielle has impressive experience and I'm delighted to welcome her to our team," said Rhonda J. Tobin, Managing Partner, Robinson+Cole. "Continuing to expand the depth and geographical diversity of our health law practice is another step in the execution of our strategic plan to expand some of our strongest practices in our most strategic locations. The firm continues to look for growth opportunities in these practices, as well as in the large commercial centers where we have offices, including New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Miami."

Before beginning her legal career, Tangorre attended both Albany Law School and Albany Medical College, respectively earning a Juris Doctorate and an MS in Bioethics. Additionally, she completed a clinical ethics fellowship at the Alden March Bioethics Institute at Albany Medical Center, where she trained besides medical professionals and performed ethics consultations throughout the hospital clinical setting. This foundation of knowledge has enabled her to provide her clients with a unique and holistic approach to the practice of law.

In addition to her practice, Tangorre is dedicated to serving her community. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Ronald McDonald House of Charities of the Capital Region and is an Assistant Adjunct Professor at Albany Medical Center, where she is a former member of its Institutional Review Board.

Tangorre is the latest of several senior additions to Robinson+Cole. Since the beginning of the year, the firm welcomed litigation partners Amanda R. Phillips and Seth B. Orkand as well as real estate partner, Deirdre M. Robinson in the Boston office; Rachel Jaffe Mauceri in the Bankruptcy + Reorganizations Group and Katherine M. Katchen in the Managed Care + Employee Benefit Litigation Group in Philadelphia; Catherine A. Cuggino in the Real Estate + Development Group and Benjamin M. Daniels in the Business Litigation Group in Hartford; and Michael W. Troha in the Insurance + Reinsurance Group in New York.
